SARA JACOBSON, DIRECTOR of TRIAL ADVOCACY PROGRAMS
RE: NATIONAL TRIAL TEAM INFORMATION [2016-17]

WHAT IS THE TEMPLE TRIAL TEAM?
We are a national championship trial team. We are a hard-working, competitive, highly skilled group of men and women who consistently place among the best of law school trial teams. We have earned one of the best records in the country in major law school tournaments. US News & World Report has ranked our program #1 or #2 in the US in the last sixteen years.

WHAT KINDS OF THINGS WILL I BE TAUGHT?
You will learn how to try cases. You will develop and polish the skills that trial lawyers require. You will learn, for example, how to analyze and master a trial file, how to construct a case theory and how to organize, prepare and craft crisp examinations and dramatic speeches. You will learn how to be persuasive—how to deliver a compelling speech, how to cleanly destroy a witness' credibility, how to require a witness to answer your question, how to help a witness recite a dramatic story, how to make interesting points in interesting ways. You will learn how to handle difficult judges, how to make the law of evidence your ally, and how to take control of the courtroom. You will learn how to be a trial lawyer. You will also learn how to win—fairly and squarely.

HOW OFTEN AND WHEN DO WE COMPETE?
In 2016-17, we intend to compete in 9 tournaments – 4 in the Fall and 5 in the Spring. In recent years our list included NBTA’s Tournament of Champions (TOC), the Buffalo-Niagara Invitational, the Puerto Rico Trial Advocacy Invitational, the National Civil Rights Competition, and the Fordham Invitational in the Fall. In the Spring, we competed in the National Trial Competition (NTC) (Regionals in Feb.; Nationals in Mar.), the Association for American Justice (AAJ) (Regionals in Mar.), the John Marshal Criminal Justice Competition, the Capital City Challenge Competition in DC, and the invitation only Top Gun Tournament in June.

AGAINST WHOM DO WE COMPETE AND WHO JUDGES THE COMPETITIONS?
We compete against the most talented student advocates in the country from other law school trial teams. In addition to Temple, the most successful schools during the past 3 years are: American, Baylor, Chicago-Kent, Georgetown, Harvard, Loyola LA, Loyola Chicago, Northwestern, Stetson, Syracuse, South Texas, Washington U, and Yale. In the NTC Regional, we'll meet Penn, Dickinson, Drexel, Duquesne, Pittsburgh, Rutgers-Newark, Seton Hall, Villanova, West Virginia, and Widener.

In each trial, you'll be judged by a bench of at least three trial lawyers and/or judges from the respective tournament sites. In the NTC championship rounds in Texas, you'll be evaluated by a jury composed of Fellows from the American College of Trial Lawyers, the premier trial lawyers' organization in the country. In the finals, you will see a jury of thirteen fellows—each representing a different state—and a federal district court judge. For the other tournaments, you'll see some of the most experienced criminal and personal injury lawyers in the United States.

HOW IS THE TEAM ORGANIZED?
Our team of 16 is divided into four teams in the Fall and four teams in the Spring. Our team of 16 is divided into four teams of four. The NTC team is further divided into two teams of 2. Most teams try one side of the case as advocates and the other as witnesses for their teammates. Most teams try one side of the case as advocates and the other as witnesses for their teammates. The Fordham and RTC/NTC teams try their case from both sides (i.e. in one round you are the plaintiff/prosecution; in the next you are the defendant). During every trial, each team member must deliver one speech (either an opening or a closing) and conduct one direct and one cross examination. Generally, each team tries a minimum of three trials during the preliminary rounds of the tournament before advancement to the medal rounds (quarters, semis and finals).

WHAT IS THE PRACTICE SCHEDULE & WORKLOAD?

The workload is heavy—with the real heavy lifting coming in the spring semester. The fall is a short two month season (late Sept. to late Nov). The Spring schedule begins the week before classes resume in Jan. through March (depending upon whether the team advances and when a respective competition is scheduled). Individual teams generally practice 3-4 times per week: 1-2 evenings, an afternoon, and a weekend day. Several weeks before competition, we add several more sessions. There is an evidence/trial tactics “class” session for all trial team members, which will be scheduled once the team is chosen. There is also work to be done at home in preparation for the practices.

CAN I PARTICIPATE ON TRIAL TEAM, MOOT COURT AND A JOURNAL?

Absolutely—assuming you are multi-task oriented, efficient and enjoy hard work. In 1992, one student did an FJC clinical clerkship with a Third Circuit judge, was managing editor of the law review, served on the board of moot court, and was a finalist in Texas on our NTC team. Of course, he did not require much sleep and had a significant other who did not require much attention. If you want the enterprise badly enough, we will make it work.

WHAT DO WE WIN?

Trophies, bowls, cups, plaques, medals, certificates, graduation prizes, books, sometimes a little bit of money, and recognition by national, regional and local trial lawyer organizations. You'll get your name and picture in the paper (Temple Esq., Legal Intelligencer, maybe the Inquirer). If you win the NTC or AAJ national championship, you'll be guests at a national trial lawyers' convention. (In 2005, the winning NTC team went to London).

HOW WELL HAS THE TEAM DONE IN COMPETITION?

Our record speaks for itself. Since 1995, we have won 5 national (3 NTC, 2 AAJ) and 21 national invitational championships. In the NTC, the super bowl of tournaments, we have won our regional 28 of the last 30 years and, “made the cut” to the national quarterfinal round 17 times since 1995, finishing first in 1999, 1998 and 1995; and second in 2007, 1993 and 1992. We were the first school to win the Top Gun tournament when it was created in 2010 and the only school to win it twice.

IN HOW MANY COMPETITIONS WILL I PARTICIPATE AND HOW MANY CASES WILL I TRY?

We expect that all trial team members will try in at least two and possibly three competitions. The number of tournaments and actual trials depends on-- which team you try, the number of team-mates you have, the number of competitions to which you go, and how well the team does. When we go all the way, excluding the numerous times the cases were tried in practice as we prepared for each tournament, team members can try approximately sixteen times—-that's up to sixteen jury trials in competition!

WILL THIS EXPERIENCE HELP ME GET A JOB AND MORE?
Well it can't hurt. Not only that, it invariably helps--big time. Philadelphia, regional and national law firms and district attorney and public defender organizations know about and directly recruit from our ranks. You'll get lots of resume points, have your own "war stories" to tell, develop a sense of accomplishment and confidence that will serve you well and own a wealth of experience that you will not otherwise get--regardless of where you end up or how much money you make. For the practitioner or law firm looking to hire a potential litigator/trial lawyer, it's often a big chit.

DO TEAM MEMBERS GET ACADEMIC CREDIT FOR TRIAL TEAM WORK?
Yes. Team members may earn up to 4 credits in their first year of participation; 3 credits in their second year.

HOW SERIOUSLY DO TEAM MEMBERS TAKE THEIR RESPONSIBILITIES?
If you have to ask, maybe you should consider auditioning for the marching band.

HOW MUCH OF A COMMITMENT WILL I BE EXPECTED TO MAKE?
As much as it takes to win a national championship. We expect your best effort.

WHAT ARE THE GOALS?
There are two goals: (1) to teach you to be as effective and professional a trial lawyer as you can be; (2) to win a National Championship.

WHAT KIND OF STUDENTS ARE YOU LOOKING FOR?
If you have read up to here, that's a good sign. If you think you have courtroom talent, speak well and persuasively, are quick and smart, have a sense of humor and of the dramatic, hate to lose and love to win, and are prepared to commit the time, we want you. If you're not sure you have what it takes, come out and audition. You can decide to join us later--assuming we both like each other.

HOW DO I MAKE THE TEAM?
Impress us at the audition.

WHAT DO THE AUDITIONS INVOLVE?
There are two auditions available to you--spring and fall. Students may audition in either the fall and/or the spring.

The spring (late April ‘16) audition has one round. You will give a closing speech from a file or case you are currently preparing for LRW or ITA/ITAP and from either side.

- For students (1Ls) enrolled in LRW, please prepare a closing argument from the “assignment” on which your oral argument is based;
- For students currently enrolled in ITA or ITAP, please prepare a closing argument in the case assigned for your final trial – Fortenberry or Salley.

You will have approximately 5 minutes for your speech, although you need/should not attempt to complete the entire closing in 5 minutes. You may be interrupted and asked to address a particular part of the case and how it bears on the argument. You may also be asked to speak extemporaneously about a topic of our choosing. Finally, you may be interviewed about your background, schedule and commitment.
At the end of the Spring auditions, students will be given a constructive critique and informed privately as to whether (1) they received a bye to the second round in the Fall; (2) are invited to participate in an invitation only summer trial team boot camp program; (3) are encouraged to re-audition in the Fall; or (4) face a steeper climb should they wish to re-audition in the fall.

The fall audition (early September ’16) has three parts to it and is divided into two rounds:

In Round 1, you will be asked to give a closing speech for either the prosecution or the defense (your choice) in a mock file which will be posted. You may be interrupted and asked to address a particular part of the case. You may also be asked to speak extemporaneously about a topic of our choosing.

If you get called back for Round 2, you will be assigned a partner and asked to try the case—that is, selective parts of the mock file in a limited amount of time against two other advocates. Finally, you may be interviewed about your background, schedule and commitment.

At the end of the fall auditions, the names of the members of the 2016-17 trial team will be posted on the Trial Advocacy bulletin board and the website.

WHEN ARE THE AUDITIONS AND WHERE DO I SIGN UP?

Spring auditions will be held on Wednesday, April 20th, 9am-5pm and, if needed, Thursday, April 21st, starting at 9am. INFORMATION SESSIONS will be held on WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13th and THURSDAY, APRIL 14th at 12pm in Room K6B. Spring audition sign up will begin on Monday, April 11th. Auditions are scheduled in 10 minute increments. Contact Mary Beth Wilson at mwilson6@temple.edu to sign up for an audition time.

Fall auditions and information sessions will be held at the beginning of the Fall 2016 semester. Schedule details will be confirmed at a later date.

WHEN WILL YOU PICK THE TEAM?

We expect to have the team selected within the week following the completion of Fall auditions.

HOW AVAILABLE ARE THE COACHES?

Very available. We have offices in the law school, as do others who are part of the faculty who also coach. The adjuncts are a short subway ride away. There is email!

IS ALL THE WORK WORTH IT?

It depends upon your agenda. If you are interested in trial work and want to learn, develop and hone the kinds of skills that trial lawyers have, it is more than worth it. It is a learning and skill developing experience that is not available to you anywhere else. It will put you light years ahead of your colleagues. It will also tell you a lot about who you are and about what you are made. But don’t take my word for it. Ask any past member of Temple’s trial teams – any one of the approximate 250. Most will tell you it was the best -- the most intensive, fulfilling, and rewarding learning experience they had in this institution.

WHERE ELSE CAN I GET INFORMATION ABOUT THE TEAM?

From Sara Jacobson (Room K614), Jennifer Bretschneider (Room K519) or Barbara Ashcroft (K615). You might also ask Professors Natali and Epstein. Ask the Dean. Call your Trial Advocacy instructor. Perhaps and most important of all, talk to former trial team members -- names and numbers available upon request.
