TEMPLE UNIVERSITY
PHILADELPHIA CAMPUS

Founded in 1884, the University has grown exponentially, attracting students from around the world. Located about 1.5 miles north of Center City Philadelphia, the Temple University Main Campus is an integral part of the local arts, music, intellectual and cultural scene. Our campus is a hub of academic offerings, student activities, and vibrant residential life. Temple’s 39,000 students are distributed among nine campuses and 333 academic programs. The University boasts degree programs that include more than 100 bachelors, 123 masters and 60 doctoral programs including professional school degree programs in law, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy and podiatric medicine. Temple has been recognized for having one of the most diverse student bodies and one of the most technologically connected campuses in the nation.
TEMPLE LL.M. DEGREE PROGRAM FOR FOREIGN-TRAINED LAWYERS

Temple Law School has educated successful lawyers for more than 100 years and has more than three decades of experience educating foreign-trained attorneys. We offer students a rigorous educational experience, blending theory and practice that will serve our graduates in a complex and ever-changing legal environment. Students enrolled in Temple’s LL.M. program make life-long professional relationships that offer rewards far beyond graduation. Under the tutelage of our distinguished and dedicated faculty, Temple-educated lawyers are prepared to practice and teach throughout the world.

TEMPLE LAW SCHOOL OFFERS A CHALLENGING AND DIVERSE CURRICULUM TO SATISFY MANY INTERESTS.

General LL.M. Curriculum
LL.M. students are required to complete at least 24 semester credit hours to earn the degree. Most full-time students enroll for 12-15 credits each semester, which will permit them to complete the degree within one academic year (August through May). Students may choose from more than 100 classes that span U.S. law, in addition to international and comparative law topics.

Fall Semester
Legal Research & Writing I (3 credits)
Introduction to the American Legal System (3 credits)
One basic U.S. law subject (3 – 4 credits)
Elective law subject selected by student in consultation with academic advisor (2-4 credits)

Spring Semester
Legal Research & Writing II or other advanced writing course (3 credits)
Elective law classes selected by student in consultation with academic advisor (9-12 credits)
HIGHLY-RANKED PROGRAMS

Our students benefit from access to Temple’s world-class faculty as well as support through individualized academic and career advising. In 2016, Temple’s Trial Advocacy and Legal Writing programs were ranked 2nd and 10th, respectively, by U.S. News & World Report, while the International Law program holds the number 12 spot.

STUDY LAW IN PHILADELPHIA—THE BIRTHPLACE OF DEMOCRACY

Philadelphia, a world-class city, is the 7th largest metropolitan area in the United States with a population of 6 million. The New York Times ranked Philadelphia 3rd on its list of the best places to visit in 2015 while Conde Nast Traveler declared Philadelphia the 2nd best shopping city in the world. The Huffington Post says that Philadelphia is the most underrated city in America. As the birthplace of the U.S. Constitution, the city has had a significant influence on the practice of law. The Philadelphia Bar Association is the oldest association of lawyers in the country. The term “Philadelphia lawyer” has long been recognized as mark of professional excellence.

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY BEASLEY SCHOOL OF LAW

Founded in 1895, Temple Law School is located on the Temple University Main Campus and has a total enrollment of approximately 1,200 students. The Law School is American Bar Association-approved and also has campuses in Rome, Tokyo and Beijing. The Law School has a well-deserved reputation for academic excellence, world-class teaching and exceptional practical legal training.

For more than 40 years, Temple Law School has educated foreign-trained lawyers from all over the world through its LL.M. degree program. We offer students a broad array of academic options in an extraordinarily stimulating educational setting.
